Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council
City of Litchfield
Litchfield, Minnesota

We have audited the financial statements of the governmental activities, the business-type activities, each major fund, and the aggregate remaining fund information of the City of Litchfield, Minnesota, for the year ended December 31, 2015. Professional standards require that we provide you with information about our responsibilities under generally accepted auditing standards and Government Auditing Standards, as well as certain information related to the planned scope and timing of our audit. We have communicated such information to you in our letter dated January 7, 2016. Professional standards also require that we communicate to you the following information related to our audit.

Significant Audit Findings

Qualitative Aspects of Accounting Practices

Management is responsible for the selection and use of appropriate accounting policies. The significant accounting policies used by the City are described in Note 1 to the financial statements. As described in Note 12 to the financial statements, the City implemented Governmental Accounting Standards Board Statements No. 68 and 71. Adoption of the provisions of these statements results in significant changes to the reporting of the net pension liability, variables impacting the calculation of the liability and its related disclosures. We noted no transactions entered into by the City during the year for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus. All significant transactions have been recognized in the financial statements in the proper period.

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial statements prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. The most sensitive estimate affecting the financial statements was:

Management's estimate of depreciation is based on the number of years an asset is in service. We evaluated the key factors and assumptions used to develop the depreciation estimate in determining that it is reasonable in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Management's estimate of pension liabilities is based on actuarial valuations performed by consultants specializing in those areas. We evaluated the key factors and assumptions used to develop those estimates in determining that it is reasonable in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

The financial statement disclosures are neutral, consistent, and clear.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

We encountered no significant difficulties in dealing with management in performing and completing our audit.

Corrected and Uncorrected Misstatements

Professional standards require us to accumulate all known and likely misstatements identified during the audit, other than those that are clearly trivial, and communicate them to the appropriate level of management. Management has corrected all such misstatements. Material misstatements detected as a result of audit procedures were corrected by management.

Disagreements with Management

For purposes of this letter, a disagreement with management is a financial accounting, reporting, or auditing matter, whether or not resolved to our satisfaction, that could be significant to the financial statements or the auditor's report. We are pleased to report that no such disagreements arose during the course of our audit.

Management Representations

We have requested certain representations from management that are included in the management representation letter dated June 20, 2016.

Management Consultations with Other Independent Accountants

In some cases, management may decide to consult with other accountants about auditing and accounting matters, similar to obtaining a "second opinion" on certain situations. If a consultation involves application of an accounting principle to the City's financial statements or a determination of the type of auditor's opinion that may be expressed on those statements, our professional standards require the consulting accountant to check with us to determine that the consultant has all the relevant facts. To our knowledge, there were no such consultations with other accountants.

Other Audit Findings or Issues

We generally discuss a variety of matters, including the application of accounting principles and auditing standards, with management each year prior to retention as the City's auditors. However, these discussions occurred in the normal course of our professional relationship and our responses were not a condition to our retention.

Other Matters

We applied certain limited procedures to the Management's Discussion and Analysis, the Schedules of Proportionate Share of the Net Pension Liability and Employer Contributions, the Schedule of Changes in the City's Net Pension Liability and Related Ratios, and the Schedule of Funding Progress and Employer Contributions - Other Postemployment Benefit Plan, which are required supplementary information (RSI) that supplements the basic financial statements. Our procedures consisted of inquiries of management regarding the methods of preparing the information and comparing the information for consistency with management's responses to our inquiries, the basic financial statements, and other knowledge we obtained during our audit of the basic financial statements. We did not audit the RSI and do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on the RSI.

We were engaged to report on the statements and schedules listed in the table of contents as supplementary information, which accompany the financial statements but are not RSI. With respect to this supplementary information, we made certain inquiries of management and evaluated the form, content, and methods of preparing the information to determine that the information complies with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the method of preparing it has not changed from the prior period, and the information is appropriate and complete in relation to our audit of the financial statements. We compared and reconciled the supplementary information to the underlying accounting records used to prepare the financial statements or to the financial statements themselves.

Other Matters (Cont'd)

We were not engaged to report on the Elected and Appointed Officials section, which accompany the financial statements but are not RSI. We did not audit or perform other procedures on this other information and we do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on it.

Restriction on Use

This information is intended solely for the use of the City Council and management of City of Litchfield, Minnesota, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.

SCHEDULE OF FINDINGS ON ACCOUNTING ISSUES AND INTERNAL CONTROLS
DECEMBER 31, 2015

We noted certain matters involving the internal control structure and its operation that we consider being deficiencies in internal control under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis.

INTERNAL CONTROL

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the valuation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by management.

It should be recognized that within the City, an inherent risk is present with certain positions. It is very common for City's such as the City of Litchfield, to assign many major responsibilities to a few key individuals in an attempt to operate within limited budgets. The audit did not raise any specific concerns with any position. The inherent risk is again addressed only to maintain the awareness of the internal control structure and to encourage the Council's continual review of financial information at monthly meetings.

CROSS-TRAINING

In prior audits, we have recommended the City implement cross-training procedures due to the small number of office staff. Duties, such as check writing, accounts payable, payroll, and utility billing, need to be performed by other office staff in instances of unexpected absences. We would like to recognize the continued improvement on cross-training implementation by the City staff that has occurred over the past few years. We recommend continued implementation on cross-training procedures and continue to develop operating manuals and instructions to allow available personnel the capability to perform the non-routine duties on a timely basis. The City should have someone other than the main person responsible for these functions fully complete the monthly duties multiple times throughout the year. Having multiple staff fully trained in various duties will ensure during an unexpected absence the City can continue to conduct business as necessary.
